Country Living Crafting a Business: Make Money Doing What ...

My problem with the book, however, is that it presents itself as a resource for "how" to make money crafting. In reality, there is very little business advice in this book (if you want that, turn to The Crafts Business Answer Book by Barbara Brabec!).

BOOK REVIEW: Crafting a Business Make Money Doing What ...

The very popular magazine, Country Living, published a neat little book a few years back called Crafting a Business, Make Money Doing What You Love. It is beautifully illustrated and shares the successes of 10 incredibly talented women, who have turned their passions into thriving businesses! I picked this book up a couple years ago while at ...

Country Living Crafting a Business: Make Money Doing What ...

I've been working on my own crafting business for almost two years now, and I love Country Living Magazine, so I was excited for this book. I would just recommend it to those who are looking for more inspiration than real direction and hardcore answers.

You could make thousands from upcycling your furniture

Turning old, dusty furniture into fresh, stylish pieces for your home is always satisfying. But it can also become a viable business... One lady, Emily Barnes, upcycles second hand armchairs using bright and beautiful fabrics, and sells them for up to 20 times their original cost.

How to Make a Living on a Crafting Hobby: 3 Etsy ...

I tend to be a very balanced and practical person, so as my business began to bring in more and more money each month, it became clear that my Etsy store, and my own site, LittleHeroCapes , made more fiscal sense—so that was a no brainer. Plus, running around was blocking my creative juices. It made sense not to renew my teaching contracts.”
