In Search of Lost Time

In Search of Lost Time (French: À la recherche du temps perdu)—previously also translated as Remembrance of Things Past—is a novel in seven volumes, written by Marcel Proust (1871–1922). It is considered to be his most prominent work, known both for its length and its theme of involuntary memory , the most famous example being the "episode of the madeleine " which occurs early in the first volume.

Remembrance of Things Past: Volume I Swann's Way ...

2013 is my Year of Reading Dangerously. I've decided to get through all 3900 pages of Proust's REMEMBRANCE OF THINGS PAST and then jump directly into the God knows how many thousand pages of Balzac's THE HUMAN COMEDY, the gigantic tapestry that comprises practically every book and story Balzac wrote. I call it "dangerous" because I've told a lot of people I'm doing it, and there's every chance it will defeat me; either I'll give up or die of old age before I finish one or both.
